Letter #139

“The ...reason for the people to retain the right to keep and bear arms is, ...to protect themselves against tyranny in government.” Thomas Jefferson

Birds of a Feather...

The supreme act of treason perpetrated against this country by President Obama releasing five of his fellow Muslim terrorists in return for the recovery of another terrorist, Bowe Bergdahl, is nothing more than one traitor helping another. “Birds of a feather flock together” and Obama, Bergdahl & the Taliban have one thing in common, they all hate the United States. What is scary is the casualness with which this Muslim in our White House carried out the treason. He seems to have supreme confidence that no act of treason on his part will ever cost him anything. Why wouldn't he think that? Nothing he's done so far has hurt him.

Obama is No Coward

We tend to believe that all wicked people are inherently cowardly. Yet this cannot really be said of Obama or any of his fellow America-hating liberals. Obama has never shrunk from doing anything to destroy his enemy, the United States, because he was afraid of public reaction. He has been consistent in his acts of war against the country he so hates. He boldly pushed through with:

1. A health care bill he knew would ultimately lead to the collapse of the US economy.
2. He boldly ignored US law and chose not to enforce our immigration laws.
3. He shamelessly stonewalled the Keystone pipeline lest the nation he hates be helped by it.
4. He mercilessly ignored the plight of a patriotic Marine in a Mexican prison.
5. He never hesitated to sell guns to Mexican drug lords and shamelessly stone-walled investigations into it.
6. He has done all he can to destroy the fighting ability of the United States military.
7. He brazenly stood by as he watched hated Americans killed in Benghazi.
8. He didn't shrink from releasing illegal Mexican criminals onto American streets.
9. He hard-heartedly waged war on the coal industry not caring about the families he forced into poverty.
10. He boldly released five fellow Muslims to kill Americans while recovering a fellow traitor.

This would-be-dictator, (or “will-be...”) does the most evil things and then looks the TV cameras right in the eye and doesn't back down. This one man has shown more courage than the gutless Republican Party who is still wringing their hands that they may end up with a 2016 presidential candidate that is too conservative. Say what you want about him, but you're a fool if you think Barak Obama is a coward.

Two Successful Presidents

In 2004, after two protracted, bloody battles the heroic troops of the United States military finally succeeded in ousting the evil Muslim extremists from the Iraqi city of Fallujah and declared it under their control. The president at that time, George W. Bush was pleased with the result. His forces had carried the day

In 2014, after a protracted, bloody battle Muslim, terrorists succeeded in ousting government troops and declared the Iraqi city of Fallujah under their control. The president at that time, Barak Hussein Obama was pleased with the result. His forces had carried the day

You can blame the News Media for every evil thing this Chicago gangster has done.

Ointment and perfume rejoice the heart: so doth the sweetness of a man's friend by hearty counsel. Prov 27:9

Meeting the 7000

Evangelist Terry Woodside

Over thirty years ago I was Bro. Terry Woodside's Youth Director at the Massillon Baptist Temple in Massillon, Ohio. Today Terry is an evangelist. He has a unique ministry. He sometimes dresses like an 1800s circuit riding preacher & even brings a horse. He does riding tricks and demonstrations. It's great for Daily Vacation Bible School. If you're interested in having Terry call him at: 843-826-7400.

Results of Treachery

Once the entire side was ripped out of the Titanic nothing mattered. Passengers could argue about the Captain's decisions, the route taken, the construction methods, none of it mattered. The ship was doomed and everything else was immaterial. That may be true of the damage done to our country under the last three presidential administrations. (One Republican, two Democratic.)

Twenty-five years ago when the Air Force's new air supremacy fighter, the F-22, was being developed plans called for over 750 to be built to replace aging F-15s. President Bush's Defense Secretary, Donald Rumsfeld, guttlessly punted on the decision of how many to buy and left it up to whoever won the 2008 election. Under Obama the Secretary of Defense, Robert Gates, halted production at 187, woefully short of the promised number and far too few to make the plane a decisive battle winner. Now, the purchase is complete. The assembly lines are shut down and dismantled. No new generation fighter is being discussed. We are shackled with far too few of a truly exemplary aircraft.

Everyone on board the Titanic knew it was doomed when Bruce Ismay, the designer, said that the damage done was too great. Nothing they did could save the ship.

And then, there is this from Gen Mark Welsh III, USAF Chief of Staff. "...we don't have enough F-22s to provide air superiority for a theater's worth of conflict."

Argue, curse, plead, flail, nothing will change, the damage that has been done, even as Russia and China are fielding their own air supremacy fighters. Oh, and they're building more than 187.

Fight On!

The mountains of Italy are rugged and barren and a terrible place to have to attack an entrenched enemy force. That is exactly what Company B of the 85th Infantry had to do in September of 1944 near Mt. Altruzzo. The German defenders' positions were well located and they cut Co. B to ribbons. Staff Sergeant George Keathley took command of all three platoons when all the officers were killed. Company B now amounted to 20 desperate men. Four times the outnumbered American force beat back German counterattacks. SSgt. Keathley was amazing. One minute he was crawling around outside the perimeter collecting weapons from the dead. The next minute he was hustling from man to man passing out ammunition and encouraging the beleaguered defenders. Suddenly a hand grenade exploded next to the sergeant mortally wounding him. But still he fought on, killing enemy soldiers and directing the fire of his men. In spite of his wounds, SSgt. Keathley continued to direct the battle until American artillery finally drove off the Germans. His men now safe, SSgt. Keathley laid down and died. Fight on!

What Will You Do?

It is as sad as it is frightening to see the greatest nation the world has ever known being assassinated by forces from within. To watch our American way of life being methodically disassembled. What should we do in the face of all this? We should do what we were told to do! Matt 28:19, "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost:

Matt 28:20 "Teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world. Amen."

We have not been told to hide in the woods or throw our hands up in surrender...or party to the end. Our marching orders haven't changed in 2,000 years. Don't quit now!
